TOLD TO USE CUTICURA

After Specialist Failed to Cure Her Intense Pricking Eczema - Had been Tortured and Disfigured but

SOON CURED OF DREAD HUMOR

"I contracted eczema and suffered intensely for about ten months. At times I thought I would scratch myself to pieces. My face and arms were covered with large red patches, so that I was ashamed to go out. I was advised to go to a doctor who was a specialist in skin diseases, but I received very little relief. I tried every known remedy, with the same results. I thought I would never get better until a friend of mine told me to try the Cuticura Remedies. So I tried them, and after four or five applications of Cuticura Ointment I was relieved of my unbearable itching. I used two sets of the Cuticura Remedies, and I am completely cured. Miss Barbara Kral, Highlandtown, Md., Jan. 9, '08, Peter Drug Co., Boston."

BROADWAY THEATER.

"East Lynne."

A fact worthy of note regarding the Broadway Theater is that it is the largest number of notable men and women who have witnessed this performance in the past fifty years.

This show was first produced in 1856 in London, and at the year of its inaugural performance Queen Victoria, attended by her young son, the present king of England, was present at the performance.

It was afterward played in Germany at the first play in Berlin, and that time was attended by the late Prince Bismarck.

It was first produced in America in 1890, and played at the Fox Theater, in Washington. It was witnessed by Abraham Lincoln, together with Secretary Seward and several well known army officers. At the Academy among the notable people who witnessed it were President Grant in 1872, President Hayes in 1880 and Chester Arthur in 1881. In New York at the Academy of Music it was produced and witnessed by Jay Cooke, the late Russell Sage and other financiers, including the elder Goulds, Vanderbilts and Astors.

The new version will play at the Broadway theater on Tuesday, November 9.

BREED THEATER.

Pittsburg-Detroit Championship Ball Game, Feature Picture.

Another great baseball picture comes to the Breed theater this week as the headline and feature, and is entitled, Pittsburg-Detroit Championship Ball Game. This picture is a special attraction and is shown in addition to the regular program, making an especially long and interesting bill of pictures.

It was taken at Pittsburg, and is remarkable for its clearness and photographic color values. Besides the following players in characteristic poses, Adams, Milin, Jennings, Clarke, Wagner and others, and all of the exciting plays in the game. Not the least interesting is the immense grandstand with its record crowd of spectators.

A superb biograph feature is also shown, entitled in the Watches of the Night, and is one of the strongest emotional pictures ever taken. The whole programme covers five immense reels of interesting subjects, there being a plentiful supply of good wholesome comedy.

Miss Florence Wolcott, the prima donna of the Breed theater, will sing the concert number, the beautiful soprano solo from The Wizard of the Nile, entitled in Dreamland. In this number Miss Wolcott sings high D as a climax note, which shows to advantage her phenomenal range and absolute purity of tone.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Space.

Mr. Editor: In Monday's Bulletin you say "Space" in newspapers is veritable the same as tenements in the realm of real estate. It is valuable space which not only meets the expense of a newspaper, but pays its owner's dividend.

The art of getting this space for nothing is not a mean art; the duty of guarding it is not a mean occupation. In the game of business the issue right at this point is to "live and let live."

The newspaper in giving space to philanthropic and religious enterprises makes large contributions every year, yet those who are benefited too often think it goes the publishers nothing.

The writer who has had about 17 years' experience as editor and proprietor of a weekly and daily believes that courtesy is an ingredient that tends toward small dividends, and that "letters to the Editor" and editorials are, after deducting the editor's vanity, but individual opinions and equal to the same consideration. Therefore he respects that its both that's made The Bulletin what it is, and has had its great success in "biz." And I submit that you should praise your biggest help in "biz" and not let parsimony, once in a while, get you to talking through your "tongue." Near election time—with your candidate—let us then not hesitate to give your friends "valuable space." "A game of business" in the political race. Then let your publishers have their way, and register your "kick" with Harry K.

As the call for copy comes in space, making it the "typo" to fill any old space.

California Gardens in November.

Mr. Editor: I am much interested in the words of "The Man Who Talks," especially when he refers to his garden or the plants therein. We had a heavy rain the first of October, the first since February, and again in the middle of the month. The ground is all green from the seed. The mountain shrubs have been brown all summer has put on its robe of green. Farmers are plowing everywhere and putting in crops of grain. Potatoes are dug, not for fear of the frost, but lest the rain cause them to sprout. Grapes are mostly gathered and we are busy preparing for our next crop. Apples are picked and are piled in heaps on the ground, preparatory to being packed for cold storage at the market. Strawberries are revived and are abundant in market, and vegetables are fine.

In the garden the early rain produces wonders. The walks and beds are covered with young weeds. You wonder where so many seeds came from. You kept the garden clean last year. All the buttons plants that were left in the ground are sprouting and coming up. Narcissus are not only up but budded to bloom. Japanese crocus is

For Sprains

Sloan's Liniment is the best remedy for sprains and bruises. It quiets the pain at once, and can be applied to the tenderest part without hurting because it doesn't need to be rubbed—all you have to do is to lay it on lightly. It is a powerful preparation and penetrates instantly—relieves any inflammation and congestion, and reduces the swelling.

Here's the Proof.

Mr. L. ROLAND, Bishop of Scranton, Pa., says: "On the 7th of this present month, as I was leaving the building at noon for lunch, I slipped and fell, spraining my wrist. I returned in the afternoon, and at four o'clock I could not hold a pencil in my right hand. I was very much distressed and purchased a bottle of Sloan's Liniment. It was an excellent anti-septic and germ killer—heals cuts, burns, wounds and contusions, and will draw the poison from sting of poisonous insects.

I have three new varieties of dahlias from seed this year. One a peculiar tinted cactus. When they are like those already I have I pull them up. They stay in the ground all winter and are replanted in spring. Roses are still blooming. They must be pruned in January for next season.

The magnolia grandifolia is still in flower. The tree is thirty feet high, with thick green leaves six to eight inches long, the upper surface glazed and bright. The flowers first appear as a white bud like your finger, which grows to be about five to six inches long. It then unfolds its pure white petals into a cup-shaped flower eight to ten inches across. The flower grows on the end of a limb, so that when cut three or four leaves attach. The rich perfume is very pleasing. A single flower will scent the room finely. There are as many as twenty blooms on the tree at a time. Among the varieties is a bunch of Phloxes, Texas or New Zealand flax. It grows in long shoots or leaves from the ground five to six feet long and two to three inches wide. Its beauty is that it is a dark green striped with gold and makes a very attractive object, being five feet across the bush.

The flowers first appear as a white bud like your finger, which grows to be about five to six inches long. It then unfolds its pure white petals into a cup-shaped flower eight to ten inches across. The flower grows on the end of a limb, so that when cut three or four leaves attach. The rich perfume is very pleasing. A single flower will scent the room finely. There are as many as twenty blooms on the tree at a time. Among the varieties is a bunch of Phloxes, Texas or New Zealand flax. It grows in long shoots or leaves from the ground five to six feet long and two to three inches wide. Its beauty is that it is a dark green striped with gold and makes a very attractive object, being five feet across the bush.

E. S. LIPPITT, Petaluma, Cal., Nov. 1, 1909.

desires a few private pupils, best references. Address Mrs. LeRolland, care of "Les Buttes" School, The Beech Drive, near and after that we have little frost. I have three new varieties of dahlias from seed this year. One a peculiar tinted cactus. When they are like those already I have I pull them up. They stay in the ground all winter and are replanted in spring. Roses are still blooming. They must be pruned in January for next season.

The magnolia grandifolia is still in flower. The tree is thirty feet high, with thick green leaves six to eight inches long, the upper surface glazed and bright.
